

Lesson 10

Topic: Taharah /purifiers

The Purifiers, or motahhirat, that purify or render tahir the najis things are twelve...

5. Elimination / Evaporation of two-third of grape juice

Grape juice is not rendered najis if boiled by fire, but it would be haram to consume. However, if it were boiled until two thirds of it was evaporated, it would then be halal to consume.

6. Transferring

The human blood, or that of an animal whose blood gushes out when slaughtered, when transferred to or transplanted into an animal that does not have gushing blood, is rendered tahir provided that it is considered thereafter as the blood of the recipient animal.

7. Islam

Case: If a kafir – or an unbeliever – declares the two testimonies, i.e. says “I testify that there is no god but Allah and that Muhammad is the messenger of Allah”, he becomes a Muslim, and so after embracing Islam, his body, saliva, mucus, and sweat becomes tahir.

Case: If an unbeliever utters the two testimonies of faith, but one does not know if Islam has entered his heart or not, he is tahir.

8. Consequence

‘Consequence’ is when a najis object becomes tahir as a result of, or in consequence to another najis article becoming tahir. As an example, a non-adolescent child of the unbelievers is rendered tahir when one of his parents or grandparents embraces Islam.

Case: If wine turns into vinegar, the container is rendered tahir, as a consequence to it, up to the level the wine reached while boiling.

9. The annihilation of the najasah itself

Case: The body of animals is rendered tahir through the elimination of the najis thing from it.
