Lesson 9

Purity of Non-Muslims

- ✚ A pot of grape juice becomes Haram immediately upon getting boiled and it can be purified if 2/3rd of the juice evaporates.
- ✚ After the evaporation of 2/3rd juice, it becomes purified and its consumption becomes Halal, and along with its purification, the pot and spoon also get purified.

Impurities

9. Fuqqa

- ✚ Fuqqa is any wine or beer made from barley. It is Najis and its consumption is Haram.

10. The sweat of a Junub from haram.

- ✚ Junub or Mujnib is a person who is in the state of Janabah.
- ✚ If a person enters the state of Janabah due to a Haram act, according to some scholars, his sweat is Najis.

11. Kafir

- ✚ The non-Muslims who are pagans, idol-worshippers and atheists are Najis as per the consensus of the scholars, but there is a disagreement over the impurity of those non-Muslims who are Ahl al-Kitab (people of the book).
- ✚ The Imam (as) was asked about eating along with Jews and Christians. The Imam (as) said: There is no problem if the food is prepared by you. (Tahdhib al-Ahkam, vol. 9, pg. 88)

Types of Najasah (impurity):

Najasah Dhatiyya: Essential/Inherent Impurity – like blood, dog, pig etc.

Najasah Aradhiyya: Accidental/External Impurity – A bottle of water that became Najis due to a drop of blood.

✚ The people of the book (like Christians and Jews) are not inherently impure. Their impurity is accidental/external in nature.
